

Plymouth Street Names and their Origins
By Tom Vaughn and Douglas Moylan
With the help of many others
Plymouth Historical Society, April 2020

This list is inspired by a similar streetscape for neighboring community Bristol
Connaught, by Robert Adamczyk in 2013.

Districts of Plymouth (which includes Terryville)

Alerttown
Alerttown is the south-western corner of the Town of Plymouth. It was first settled by Sam Clinton (of Woburn) in the mid 1700s. Clinton sold to the Tolles family who lived there for over 200 years. Uri Allen (1826-1884) and his family built an abundance of houses which provides the origin of the Alerttown name. In this district is also "Indian Heaven" which was the earliest name of this area.
Baldwin Mills
Baldwin Mills district was a mill and about 1800 at the intersection of Carter and Wither Roads. Lemuel S. Baldwin (1826-1904) was the mill owner.
East Plymouth
East Plymouth was settled there after 1730 by Narragansett/Bristol residents, although it is possible that a dwelling house stood there as early as 1700. The Bristol Episcopal Church relocated here in the mid 1700s to avoid tensions with protestants during the American Revolution. This became a Tory/loyalist neighborhood during this time.
Greytown
Greytown was previously Hancock Meadows, then Ireland, then Hoadleyville, then Greytown. It was first settled by the Matthews Plantation in the late 1600s but not permanently. This district was where Eli Terry first instituted mass production in the 1806 Porter Contract at Greytown Falls. Greytown district had three train stations, Greytown Station, Fagg Station, and Hancock Station.
Headfieldville
Headfieldville was named for a location in 1862. The name Pequotub comes from a Tunes leader who lived at the junction of the Pequotub River (formerly Cambridge River) and the Farmington River. This was a major industrial district in town.
Pequotub
Pequotub was established when it became a postal district in 1862. The name Pequotub comes from a Tunes leader who lived at the junction of the Pequotub River (formerly Cambridge River) and the Farmington River. This was a major industrial district in town.
Plymouth Center
Plymouth Center first settled around 1740 and is originally the center of the whole community, which included Plymouth Hollow (now Thomaston). The center of the community is where the church and green were to be built, according to New England traditions.
Plymouth Hollow
Plymouth Hollow was the first region of "Northbury" settled in 1728 by Henry Cook (house still standing on Smith Road in Thomaston). Due to the growing clock industries of Seth Thomas and Miles Morse, this district, renamed Thomaston in 1859 became the wealthiest part of town. By 1875 Thomaston became established as its own community.
Terryville
First settled by the Fern Family in the late 1700s, Terryville was industrialized in 1824 when Eli Terry Jr. opened a clock shop. It was named Terryville in 1843 by Eli Terry Jr. in honor of the establishment of a new postal office.
Town Hill
Town Hill was first settled in 1746 by Reverend Samuel Todd. After the death of his daughter he was given a new home by the parish of Northbury in Plymouth Hollow. Several late 1700s houses still stand around Washington Road. Town Hill was supposed to be the center of town due to its high central elevation, but lack of water resulted in the community building at Plymouth Center.

Other Places

Fall Mountain
Fall Mountain is the western half of South Mountain which runs parallel to Foxenville and Southington. The origin of this name is unclear. It may have Native American origins, or reference autumn.
Indian Heaven
Indian Heaven is a name recorded as early as the 1800s. The Bristol Baptist Church had origins in this area where Founder Mr. Wideman lived. By the 1930s, Indian Heaven was a popular clubhouse spot which saw dances and weddings through the 1950s.
Mr. Toby
"Mr. Toby" as it was called can be referenced back to the 1800s, although no early history books can recall the original of the name.
The hill leading from Thomaston to Plymouth Center
Formerly called Warner's Hill. John Warner owned majority of the land on this hill and sold to Eli Terry Sr. who moved to this hill in 1793.
Poland
Poland is a name found in Farmington records dating back to the mid 1600s. The origin of this name is unclear, but it probably reference to pole-chopped saplings which grew in wetlands and are used in production of barrels and buckets. Poland Brook is named after "Poland".
Terryville Falls
The Terryville Falls is a flood plane parallel to South Main Street. It was owned by Joe Jugg throughout the 1900s and was sold to Arthur's Industries, and is currently a propane storage facility.

Plymouth Hollow Places (pre 1875)

Castle Hill
Castle Hill refers to the hill Isaac Castle settled on in 1736 when he became a proprietor of Northbury. This may be the earliest reference to Plymouth Hill. The next reference to this hill is "Warner Hill" which was owned by John Warner sometime after the 1750s. John Warner who was not a proprietor could have purchased the land from Isaac Castle.
Headfieldville
Headfieldville is a conglomerate of 1822 between Northfield and Thomaston, but primarily in Northfield. This area was called this in reference to the Hoopland Toy Factory. Hoopland started off making wooden movement tall case clocks and converted to musical instruments in the 1820s.
Hudsonville Hill
Hudsonville Hill was settled by Caleb Hudson, an original proprietor (and son) owner of Northbury. Hudson owned over 1000 acres of land near South Road where Henry Cook lived.
Jericho
The name Jericho appears on the 1852 map as its own district of Plymouth, similar to "Pequotub" and "Terryville." It is undoubtedly a religious reference to Jericho in Palestine. The reason is unknown.
Relics
Relics is the current Reynolds Bridge which crosses the Haddock River. The original Reynolds Bridge was a few hundred feet south. Terry's Bridge was about 100 feet north. It was decided to incorporate the two into one bridge where the current stands.
Terry's Mills
Terry's Mills was the site of the oldest grist mill near Jackson Street and Reynolds Bridge. It was purchased by Eli Terry around 1812 when he began the works for designing and producing the first iron clock. The factory was his son Terry's clock factory, and was converted by him into a woolen mill. Area later called Plymouth Woolen Mills.
Walnut Hill
Walnut Hill was the Hill past Back Rock Reservoir on the right. This was also its own school district.

Street Names

Alerttown
Named after Erma Abbott, who owned 11 building lots, or Nicholas F. Abbott, employee at Eagle Lock.
Adams Drive
Named for Adam Spaulding, developer. (Courtesy of Eric Krasinski)
Agney Ave
The only source that could be found of any "Agney" in town is that of Frederick Agney (1856-1939) who was a shoemaker and Widow Mary Agney, who lived across from the Terryville Institute, where Agney Ave. (Courtesy of Holly Barnes Doack)
Allen Street
Reference to district of town "Allen" (renamed School District) and name of local schoolhouse. Uri Allen (1826-1884) lived in the blue Greek Revival house. His family lived throughout the vicinity, and area was called "Alerttown".
Alford Drive
Named after William Alford who was an Industrial Park Expansion Committee. (Courtesy of Keith Gohls)
Altair Ave
Named after Altair Industries, owned by Mr. Sarneck. (Courtesy of Marty Latta)
Ames Ave
Named for S. J. Ames, developer. (Courtesy of Hank Probin)
Amherst Road
Named for the Amherst Amherst farm.
Arrow Drive
Possibly a reference to Native American arrowhead points which could have been found there.
Arthur Drive
Named after Henry Jay Arthur (1917-1976) who lived on the street. The family still lives there. (Courtesy of Betty Antron)
Baldwin Park Lane
Named for Baldwin Park. Previously Park Street, renamed in 1984 to avoid confusion with Park Street in Plymouth.
Barry Road
Named for the Barry family who lived in the William Fern house on the corner of North Street and Barry road, and operated a farm on the land which the road was built.
Beach Street
The origin of this name remains probably correct. The name Beach was used by the family of the father of the family. The father of the family was Egbert Barker (1819-1868) who married Henry Terry's daughter Adelaide (1826-1898).
Beach Ave
Named for the Beach Farm which was on Allen Street, operated by Burr Smith Beach (1823-1889).
Bemis Street
Named for Oliver Bemis (1809-1876) whose house still stands on the corner of Bemis & Harrison Ave.
Benedict Street
Probably named for William A. Benedict.
Bernice Ave
Named after Bernice Blakis (died 1977) who owned all of the land in this area. She also operated the Town Farm. (Courtesy of Candace Kammes)
Birch Street
Reference to birch trees.
Black Road
Reference to the Black Family farm, currently owned by Peter Fortin.
Blake Road
Named after Harold Blake (1913-1997) who owned land which four houses were built for the Blake Family. Frederick Blake (with his seven siblings), and Caroline Blake Sanford lived on the street as well. (Courtesy of Cathy Mohler)
Blakeman Road
Most likely a misspelling of Blackman. Charles C. Blackman (1846-1928) and his wife Julia (1850-1935) lived on Blakeman Road, and owned a large home.
Bluemary Lane
Reference to blueberries.
Bolton Road
Named after Bolston family. (Courtesy of Charles Paul Becker)
Bombard Court
Named after Charlie Bombard, salesman and member of Planning and Zoning Board Member. (Courtesy of Kevin Hayes and Candace Kammes)
Burger Road
Named for Conrad Burger (1824-1907) who owned 114 acres of land in this area, and a mill.
Burnham Street
Named after Burnham Road which was east of the road. Burnham Road was named after Silas Burnham Terry who built to power his clock factory. His middle name was Burnham which was the maiden name of his grandmother Hannah Burnham Terry (1752-1808).
Burr Road
Named for the Burr Family (Historical Society Farm, after Jerry Farm, currently Plymouth Historical Society). Burr Farm founded by John Burr (1823-1902).
Bushell Street
Probably named for George E. Bushell (1823-1902). Road off of Bushell Farm.
Carroll Court
Named for the carol which passed under the street that supplied water from Horseshoe Falls to the Terryville Manufacturing Company which operated where the waste treatment plant is.
Carroll Street
Probably Carroll Avenue, changed in 1994.
Carriage Drive
Probably reference to a horse carriage (popular poetic name given to roads in many communities throughout the state during the 1960s)
Carter Road
Named for Dan S. Carter (1827-1896) who lived at the head of Carter Road off of Thomaston Ave in Thomaston.
Carver Street
Reference to cedar trees. This neighborhood has all tree-related names.
Center Street
Was to be named Gold Street in 1994. This street is the center road between Short Street and Diamond Street.
Charley Street
Probably related to developer. Origin unknown.
Chesnut Street
Reference to a chestnut tree. This was once Chestnut Street and Chestnut Street Extension, converted in 1984.
Chisbury Terrace
Named after Frankemason Samuel E. Chisbury (1823-1892) who lived at 42 South Main Street, and owned the property where the houses on Chisbury Terrace are.
Christine Road
Daughter of Fred Zwick, developer and early developer of North Street and Center Street which was supposed to be Gold Street. These names referenced jewelry.
Church Street
Previously North Avenue. Name changed in 1984 to reference the Greater Grace Apostolic Church.
Cleary Lane
Reference to the Fall Mountain Lake Club, which stood on the east shore of the lake, demolished for the development of the neighboring streets. Also probably reference to the club which operated on Alerttown Road. (Courtesy of Matt Malley)
Common development name
Probably religious reference.
Constance Drive
Reference to industrial product related to the industrial Park.
Coral Drive
Named after Dr. Mark Coral (1923-2009) who had his office on Maple Street. (Courtesy of Patty Garber and Peter Katsalakis)
Cross Street
Scenic development street name.
Curtis Road
Scenic development street name.
Cross Road
Named because the road crosses between South Eagle Street and Town Hill Road.
Curlew Road
Named for Henry Curtis (1825-1885), who lived about one mile past the end of the current road on the north side. The foundation of the Curtis house is still extant.
Daniel Court
Developer's name Daniel Landwehr. (Courtesy of Kevin Hayes)
Dewey Ave
Probably named for Admiral Dewey, several other streets in this neighborhood follow patriotic names, and this street was being developed at the time of Dewey's death in 1917.
Diamond Street
Originally part of neighborhood street name, including Short Street and Center Street which was supposed to be Gold Street. These names referenced jewelry.
Dorothy Lane
Daughter of developer that built neighborhood. (Courtesy of Richard Schultz)
Driftwood Street
Renamed in 1994 to avoid confusion with Beach Ave. Driftwood is reference to driftwood found near/in bodies of water, e.g. Fall Mountain Lake.
Eagle Street
Was Plymouth avenue before 1900.
East Hill Street
Previously Hill Street, renamed in 1994. Reference to a hill.
East Minor Street
Reference to the Minor Family of Bristol/Cheshire Hill (not related to the Minor Family of Plymouth/Noth District). Originally Minor Road, renamed in 1994 to avoid duplicate Minor Road.
East Orchard Street
East of Orchard Street (see Orchard Street). Previously Eagle Avenue.
East Plymouth Road
Main road which passes through the Plymouth district of town.
East View Road
Reference to view on eastern side of Fall Mountain Lake.
East Washington Road
The eastern fragment of Washington Road, which used to connect Hartford to Uxbridge. The road was closed after the 1920s, and re-opened to be developed in the 1940s. A fragment of this road which connected it to Washington Road is still a foot path. See Washington Road
Edgewood Ave
Previously Wood Avenue, renamed in 1984. Probably reference to state of edgwood.
Edward Ave
Possible relation to the developer.
Eliot Street
Named for Eliot Krasinski (1886-1972). (Courtesy of Patty Garber)
Elm Drive
Wife of developer (Ed Place. (Courtesy of Pam Velucci) Road finished about 1963.
Elm Street
Reference to elm trees. This neighborhood has all tree related names.
Emmett Street
Named after Emmett Pond which supplied water to the waterwheel. Remnants of the Emmet Pond dam are still there, including the Flood gate which supplied water directly to the wheel. Named after "Boss" Emmett, who was a Blacksmith, and officer.
Evansko Lane
Named for the Evansko Family who lived at the end of the road. (Courtesy of Matt Malley)
Farmington Ave
General name for a place, community, etc.
Farmview Ave
General name for a place, community, etc.
Farmview Extension
General name for a place, community, etc.
Fall Mountain Lake Road
Named for Fall Mountain Lake.
Fall Mountain Road
Named for Fall Mountain.
Fall Mountain Terrace
Named for Fall Mountain.
Fall Street
Probably reference to field/gardens of Sivan Farm.
Faldstone Lane
Reference to abandonment of Faldstone.
Fountainhead Road
Scenic development name.
Frankie Lane
Named for Frankie Salbarr. Father was a developer for the neighborhood. (Courtesy of Richard Schultz)
Gardnanger Court
Reference to H.G. Gardnanger. (Courtesy of Richard Schultz)
Garden Street
Probably reference to scientific/geologic name. However, this land was once part of the Sivan Farm orchard.
Gear Drive
Industrial related name for the industrial Park.
George Street
Named after 1807 George Carter James (1806-1843) who died in a plane crash over Belgium in WWI. Street developed in 1965 and named in his honor. (Courtesy of Elaine Tys)
Gleason Road
Named for S. Gleason (1813-1895) who lived at the end of the road.
Green Street
Named for Robert Green, son of John Green. (Courtesy of Keith Gohls)
Greytown Road
Reference to Greytown, a school district in the southern part of town which the road passes.
Greytown Road Ext
Old fragment of the original Greytown Road before the construction of Hancock Dam.
Gulley Road
Named for Janet L. Miller Gulley (1846-1926) wife of Ebenezer Gulley. Their farm consisted of 115 acres of land on an open Gillfield Road.
Haine Ave
Named for Oscar Haine (1825-1864), and Anna Haine who lived on the corner of High Street. (Courtesy of Keith Gohls and Ted Hoan)
Hancock Court
Previously Greytown Road, this road was cut off by the construction of Hancock Dam, named for Hancock Brook. This name goes back to colonial-Waterbury. This name goes back to colonial-Waterbury. This name goes back to colonial-Waterbury.
Harrison Ave
Main road from Terryville and Plymouth Center to Harrison. There are two Harrison Avenues in the Town of Plymouth, both connect at the intersection with North Harrison Ave.
Headfield Lane
Daughter of developer Dan Headfield. (Courtesy of Kevin Hayes)
Helen Road
Relative of developer who built neighborhood. (Courtesy of Richard Schultz)
Hickory Street
Reference to hickory trees. This neighborhood has all tree related names.
High Street
Named for running up a pronounced hill above the village.
Hillside Ave
Reference to terran.
Hillside Ave Terryville
Named for running up a pronounced hill above the village. Also reference to Hillside Cemetery northbound to Hillside Ave.
Hoadley Crossing
Probably named for George Hoadley, son of dockmaster Elias Hoadley, who owned significant land on South Street in Plymouth.
Holt Street
Named for Harvey B. Holt (1847-1931).
Hozer Road
Named for the Hozer Family who lived there. (Courtesy of Matt Malley and Holly Barnes Doack)
Howe Street
Howe is the maiden name of the wife of the developer, M. Friscoe. (Courtesy of Lynn Barthele and John Friscoe)
Howe Crossing
Named for the howe Toy factory which operated from 1888 to 1900 in Plymouth. Edward Riley was proprietor. (Courtesy of Tommy Trax)
Howe Lane
Named for the howe Toy factory which operated from 1888 to 1900 in Plymouth. Edward Riley was proprietor. (Courtesy of Tommy Trax)
Irish Avenue
Large avenue, there is a possibility that it could reference the farm of Ulick's James Warner, who is a stage of the Haddock Road between Plymouth and Waterbury (Thomaston Ave). I am married Harrier Jackson or Balthasar. He appears to be the only Jackson in early Plymouth history, and conceivably lived near Jackson Street.
Jackson Court
Named for Jas. wife of Joe Zappone. (Courtesy of Ann Marie Dolski Rheault)
Johnson Road
Reference to the Johnson Family who have lived in Greytown for generations. The brick house on Greytown Road was the Johnson Turkey Farm. (Courtesy of Matt Malley)
Judge Street
Named for the "Judge" Trask (1815-1875). (Courtesy of Charles Paul Becker)
Judd Road
Likely on land which was part of the Judd Farm. The Judd farmhouse is still standing adjacent to the entrance to Fisher School.
Katy Court
Probably related to developer. Origin unknown.
Kearney Street
Named for M. Kearney. The Kearney residence was located between Schultz Street and Town Hill.
Keegan Road
Originally called Keegan Road, a reference to the Keegan Farm (last house on the right, closest to Todd/Hollow Road), was called South Street Extension, and renamed Keegan Road in 1994. (Courtesy of Jerry Mills)
Kellogg Ave
Named for F. H. Kellogg who lived in the last house on left.
King Street
General street name, common in most communities, probably no specific meaning.
Kennison Drive
Reference to relatives of Bemis, Blais, last owner. (Courtesy of Candace Kammes)
Knight Lane
Named for Ted Knight (1923-1986). (Courtesy of Jerry Mills)
Knowlton Lane
General reference to a wooded area.
Lake Forest Road
Reference to wooded area adjacent to Fall Mountain Lake.
Lake Plymouth Blvd
Reference to Lake Plymouth.
Lake Road
Reference to Fall Mountain Lake.
Lakeville Drive
Reference to Lake Plymouth.
Lakeville Drive
Reference to name of person's development.
Lakeville Road
Reference to view of Fall Mountain Lake.
Lane Hill Road
Reference to the Lane Family, headed by Daniel Lane (1779-1863) who lived near the intersection of Alerttown Road and Town Line Road. Lane Hill Road probably extended to Bristol, and was renamed Alerttown Road later on.
Lansy Court
Named after Walter K. Lansy (1925-2020) who was instrumental in developing the Industrial Park, and Raymond G. Lansy (1937-2017) who was an original member of the Industrial Commission. (Courtesy of Walt Lassy)
Lansy Road
Named for Fred Lansy, who built his home there. (Courtesy of Walt Lassy)
Lansy Ave
Reference to barrel plant.
Little Street
Son of the "Trask" Traskbooks. (Courtesy of Charles Paul Becker)
Liberty Street
Patriotic street name.
Lively Street
Probably poetic development name for Jackson's.
Lynn Ave
Daughter of developer (Ed Place. (Courtesy of Pam Velucci)
Maggie Court
Probably related to developer. Origin unknown.
Magnolia Lane
Reference to a magnolia tree.
Main Street (Terryville)
Main road through town. Route 6. Grand Army of the Republic Highway.
Malaria Street
Reference to the Malaria Family who lived there.
Maple Ave
Reference to a maple tree.
Maple Road
Named for the Old Marsh Reservoir.
Mathews Street
Named for the Mathews family, headed by Caleb Mathews (ca. 1740-1811) who lived on Hill Street house still standing in Bristol. His children built five more houses in East Plymouth/Bristol, three being on Mathews Street.
Mathewson Road
Reference to the Mathewson family which lived there, headed by Russel G. Mathewson.
Reference to a meadow
Granddaughter of Dick Doyle. (Courtesy of Sarah Sandshaw)

Merrill Street	Named to the 72 meridian which runs by the street.
Meyers Road	Named for Meyers Pond which was at the head of the street, opposite Graystone Road. Mr. Meyers built the pond to operate a hydro-electric mill in the early 1900s-1920s. The ruins of the mill, canal, and dam are still extant but the pond is gone.
Michals Drive	Named for Michael Workunsky. (Courtesy of Kim Ambruster Blake)
Minor Road	Named for the Minor Family who lived on Bisell Road, and the corner of Bisell Road and Minor Road. This family came to Plymouth in the late 1700s and still live on the original property.
Misoy Road	Relative of developer who built neighborhood. (Courtesy of Richard Schultz)
Mountainview Road	Reference to mountain view.
Mt. Tob Road	Reference to the Mt. Mount Tob, which the road passes through.
Napco Drive	Named for the NAPCO factory.
North Harrison Ave	Northern half of Harrison Ave, which is the main road from Terryville and Plymouth Center to Harwinton.
North Higgins Street	Named for the Higgins Farm. (Courtesy of Matt Malley)
North Lakeside Drive	Reference to Lake Winfield.
North Main Street	Main road north of Main Street.
North Riverside Ave	Was built before 1900.
North Street	Street running North of Plymouth Green.
Oak Street	Reference to oak trees. This neighborhood has all tree related names.
Oakdale Road	General reference to a place.
Old Farm Road	Reference to the development being built on old farmland.
Old Graystone Court	Old stretch of Graystone Road, altered after the construction of the Hancock Dam.
Old Waterbury Road	Old main road to Waterbury from Terryville/Bristol.
Old Wood Road	Old fragment of Road Hollow Road which connected to Woodlot. Probably reference to woods.
Orchard Street	Named for the mulberry trees planted by James Terry in the 1830s to feed his silk worms.
Overlook Road	Reference to view of Fall Mountain Lake.
Overlook Terrace	Reference to view of Fall Mountain Lake.
Park Ave	Reference to parkway.
Park Street	Reference to Plymouth Green.
Parkland Road	Reference to open land consisting of fields and trees.
Patricia Ave	Daughter of developer Ed Place. (Courtesy of Pam Wilcox)
Pearl Street	Named for Pearl Whitbeck whose father (Arthur Whitbeck) subdivided the lots.
Pine Hill Blvd	Scenic development name for road referencing pine trees, and the hill which the development is on.
Pine View Court	Reference to pine trees. This neighborhood has all tree related names.
Pines Crossing	Named for "The Pines" which is the name of the stam house built by Charles Allen for his daughter. The house was named "The Pines" because this area was a pine forest owned by the Allen Family.
Pinecrest Court	Reference to pine trees.
Pleasant Court	Poetic name for a street, common in development road names in the 1950s.
Poland Brook Road	Named for Poland Brook which flows parallel to the road. Poland Brook is a name which dates back several centuries with no confirmed meaning. Possibly reference to sapling "pole" trees used in production of barrels and buckets
Preston Road	Probably reference to Olive Preston (1807-1882) (head of household) for the Preston Family that lived on East Plymouth Road and owned land northbound by Preston Road.
Prospect Street	Named for the view or prospect seen high above the village.
Prospect Street Extension	Extension of Prospect Street. See Prospect Street.
Quail Hollow Court	Named for Quail Hollow housing.
Richmond Ave	Named for Bailey Richmond, and the Richmond Farm which occupied the land where this development is. (Courtesy of Matt Malley, Maria Mac Dermid and Sarah Sandhaw)
Ridge Road	Reference to ridge overlooking Lake Winfield and valley.
Ridgeview Street	Probably reference to ridge overlooking Lake Winfield.
Ronald Road	Named for Ron Packer (developer) after his son. (Courtesy of Janice Rucker Baras)
Roosevelt Ave	Named for Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States during the time period when this neighborhood was developed (about 1907).
Sandra Ave	Daughter of developer Ed Place. (Courtesy of Pam Wilcox)
Sawmill Road	Named for the sawmill operated by the Minor Family from ca. 1800-mid 1900s. The sawmill was also a gristmill and single mill. It was powered by the mill pond which is still extant, and the 1852 steam engine which is now at the Plymouth Historical Society. The ruins of the mill are still extant.
School Street	Named for the Pequot school house which stood on the south side of the road behind the Cooper Thermometer Company. Formerly Fiddlers green.
Schuback Road	Named for the Charles A. Schuback Farm.
Schultz Street	Named for Erwin Schultz who was a town selectman. (Courtesy of Matt Malley)
Scott Road	Probably named for Riny Scott (1806-1882) who owned several properties and operated a jinery on Scott Road.
Seibert Drive	Last name of developer who built neighborhood. (Courtesy of Richard Schultz)
Seymour Road	Named after Seymour family who lived in white house on corner of Seymour Road and Main Street. (Courtesy of George Davis)
Sherman Lane	Named by the developer.
Short Street	Reference to the short length of the street.
Shaw Street	Original part of neighborhood street name ideas, including Diamond Street and Center Street which was supposed to be Gold Street.
South Street	Reference to the short length of the street.
Smith Street	Named for Shelton Smith (died 1879) and his descendants who lived on the corner of Smith Street and North Main Street. Previously North Main Street Extension, renamed 1994.
South Eagle Street	The southern end of Eagle street which ran near the Eagle Lock company.
South Lakeside Drive	Reference to Lake Winfield.
South Main Street	Main road south of Main Street.
South Riverside Ave	Formerly named Railroad. South half of Riverside Ave.
South Street	Street running south from Plymouth green.
Southshore Court	Reference to Lake Winfield.
Stevens Street	Son of developer Ed Place. (Courtesy of Pam Wilcox)
Summit view Road	Reference to the view over Fall Mountain Lake at the summit of the hill.
Sunset Ave	Poetic street name, common in post WWII developments.
Sunset Drive	Poetic street name common in Post WWII developments.
Susan Lane	Daughter of Ed Kriehack, developer. (courtesy of Lee Melnickus and Bailey Antonic)
Sylvan Ave	Reference to the Sylvan Farm. There were no Sylvans in Terryville. The name Sylvan is a poetic reference to wooded area. The Sylvan Farm was owned by Charles Allen, and was most probably a name created by him.
Terry Drive	Named for family members of Bernice Beals, land owner. (Courtesy of Candace Karmen)
Tomlinson Road	Son of Ted Kriehack, developer. (courtesy of Lee Melnickus and Bailey Antonic)
Todd Hollow Road	Named for Todd Hollow. This region is a valley named after the Reverend Samuel Todd who settled on Town Hill in the 1730s. He lived here for a short time before a permanent residence could be built for him in Plymouth Hollow (House still standing on Williams Street in Thomaston).
Todd Road	See Todd Hollow Road.
Tomlinson Ave	Undetermined individual. The Tomlinson family has lived in Plymouth for centuries, and were a critical family during early industrial development in town. Relatives to the Howdleys.
Tory Crossing	Named for the Tory of East Church who were Episcopalian Loyalists during the American Revolutionary War.
Town Hill Road	Reference to Town Hill. Town Hill was originally supposed to be the center of town, set at a high elevation. Lack of water sources prevented this region from flourishing.
Town Line Road	This road is the town line between Plymouth and Bristol.
Tronico Drive	Tronico was named by the Tomlinson family. (Courtesy of Karen Burns)
Tulp Street	Reference to tulip tree. This neighborhood has all tree related names.
Tumblebrook Road	Scenic development name.
Tunnel Road	Reference to the Terryville Tunnel, east portal entrance on this street.
Union Street	Named by Eagle Lock Company, probably around 1865. Many streets were named Union Street after the Union.
Virginia Road	Wife of Ted Kriehack, developer. (courtesy of Lee Melnickus and Bailey Antonic)
Valmont Ave	Nicholas Vicenti purchased Lake Plymouth in 1935 and started dividing the northern side of the lake into ten by ten foot lots for tents. By 1936, he started dividing the rest of the lake into building lots and developed the rest of Lake Plymouth. (Courtesy of Matt Malley)
Wall Street	The origin of this street name is unknown. It is likely that it may have some relation to a forgotten retaining wall which was part of the S. B. Terry clock factory, later shear shop.
Walnut Street	Reference to walnut trees. This neighborhood has all tree related names.
Washington Road	Part of a much larger road which once ran from Hartford to Litchfield. George Washington walked this road to avoid traveling near the Connecticut shoreline in the 1700s. Apparently the house on the corner of Washington Road and Town Hill Road held Washington as a guest.
Washington Road	Possible religious origin.
West Lakeside Road	Reference to view of Lake Plymouth. Previously Lakeside Road, renamed in 1994 to avoid confusion with Lakeside Road on Fall Mountain. This road is not west of Lake Plymouth, it is west of Fall Mountain's Lakeside Road.
West Park Ave	West of Park Ave. Previously Park Road, changed in 1994 to avoid confusion between Park Road and adjacent Park Ave. West of Park Ave. See Park Ave.
Whiteoak Court	Whiteoak Court said to be land owned by Whitney Nursey. Some of the trees in front yards on Allen Street were obtained at Whitney Nursey by the town with a tree planting grant. (Courtesy of Jerry Milne)
William Street	Possible reference to Dr. William Plummer Swett (1853-1921) whose father-in-law was Nathaniel Terry Baldwin, was business manager of the Andrew Terry Company.
Williams Way	Land purchased by Bill Gandy and road named after himself. (Courtesy of Kim Ambruster Blake)
Wilton Road	Named for the Wilton Family.
Winfield Road	Named for Lake Winfield.
Woodport Road	Main road to Woodlot Connecticut.
Wood Court	Probably reference to the Wood family of Terryville.
Woodland Road	Reference to woodlands.
Woodside Drive	Probably reference to the Wood family of Terryville. Previously Wood Street, renamed in 1994.
Zwick Drive	Named for Andrew Zwick (1888-1970).
Camp Road	Named for Camp Mettuck.

Disclaimer: Some of the street name origins on this list are given based on high probability. Any corrections or input is highly encouraged! Please reach out to Tom Vaughn at tomvaughn.ph@gmail.com regarding any concerns, corrections, or additional information which you believe could benefit this list!